

LOST IN BLUE

DELOS- PAROS- SIFNOS- POLIEGOS- KIMOLOS- MILOS- ANTIPAROS
3 days- 2 nights

Day 1

Delos

Our cruise starts with a trip back to Greek history and mythology. Delos is an uninhabited island considered one of the world's most important archeological sites. In ancient years, Delos was regarded as the centre of the world and also the biggest trade center. Our approach to Delos island captures a panoramic view of its monuments and archaeological remains. If requested, a stop at its picturesque port and a visit to the local archaeological museum are possible. We cruise on the uniquely beautiful and private Rhinia island, which is by far the perfect spot for swimming and snorkelling.

Antiparos

Then we cruise towards the tiny island of Antiparos. It has quiet beaches and calm evenings. On the southern side of the island, you'll find the most impressive sight, Antiparos cave, a stunning cave full of stalactites and stalagmites.

Chora is the capital and only village of Antiparos that boasts the traditional Cycladic architecture! It is full of tiny whitewashed houses, narrow paved streets and blue-domed churches.

The island is famous for its beaches, so swimming is one of the best things to do there. Those beaches are mostly sandy with crystal clear waters, while most of them are within walking distance of Chora. Actually the sea bottom around the island has interesting reefs and some old wrecks, which provide good diving spots. One of the most beautiful beaches is Agios Georgios which is nuzzled in a picturesque sheltered bay offering an exceptional view to Despotiko island, which is our last stop. Despotiko is a small, uninhabited islet to the south of Antiparos, It has long, sandy beaches with crystal water.

Sifnos

Next stop is Sifnos which is considered as the yummiest of the Greek islands, thanks to its flourishing culinary scene.

Other than that, Sifnos has the typical Cycladic ambiance, including whitewashed houses and chapels, innumerable dovecotes, a breathtaking natural landscape and, of course, amazing beaches! The moment you'll get off the yacht, you'll feel like entering a whole new world! The island's atmosphere is deeply calming, while the air is scented with almond and orange aromas that will seduce you. The tiny whitewashed villages, the cobblestone, embellished with colorful flowers, alleys, and the mesmerizing sandy Sifnos beaches ooze charm in abundance!

People head to this lovely island to swim in relaxing beaches, such as Faros, Platis Gialos, Vathy and have a stroll in picturesque villages, including Kastro and Apollonia. The most important sightseeing in Sifnos is the Monastery of Chrissopighi, protector of the island. A very nice chapel is also the Church of Seven Martyrs, at the entrance of Kastro village.

After docking the yacht to the port you will be able to enjoy the night at Sifnos.

Day 2

Kimolos

Our first stop after having breakfast in Sifnos is the beautiful little island Kimolos, located next to Milos. It's famous for its amazing beaches, crystal clear waters and picturesque architecture.

The center of activities in Kimolos is Chorio, the only village and capital of the island. Chorio is a quaint settlement that stretches around the island's port. There, you'll find the many restaurants, shops, and tourist facilities.

Agios Georgios and Prasa are the best beaches in Kimolos. There are long, sandy beaches that attracts a lot of visitors for their natural beach and the calm environment.

Poliegos

Next to the island of Kimolos you find the uninhabited island of Polyaigos, which is one of the largest uninhabited islands in the Mediterranean Sea.

The name Polyaigos means "many goats, and these are also the only inhabitants of the island. It is one of the most beautiful destinations for lovers of sailing with numerous pristine beaches with emerald waters.

On Polyaigos you can also find the rare and protected Mediterranean monk seal. Once the island of Polyaigos was inhabited, but now everybody has left the island. A former small village on the island has become a ruin. There is still a church dedicated to The Virgin Mary which dates from 1622, which was part of a now deserted monastery. There is also a lighthouse on the island (this is automated, so there is no lighthouse keeper). The peace on Polyaigos has ensured that it is now considered the best preserved natural island in the Mediterranean and a number of rare and endangered animals live here, some of which live almost nowhere else (including a viper, a falcon species, various birds).

At several places along the coast are nice pristine pebble beaches. Our first stop was in the "Blue Bay". The bay looks a bit like an amphitheater with white rocks around the sea and has a beautiful blue water.

Milos

Milos is one of the volcanic Greek islands and thanks to its volcanic origin, Milos boasts a magnificent colorful landscape and a coastline that counts more than 40 exotic beaches.

Standing out for its majestic ambiance, rich history, picturesque fishing villages, amazing food, and indigo bays, Milos island is a timeless Cycladic gem that will steal your breath with its enchanting beauty. The variety of landscapes is unreal- you'll see nothing twice, there's always something new to discover. Being home to the Venus of Milo statue, which was discovered on the island and the stunning Sarakiniko beach, Milos' beauty is expressed in many ways! The most impressive spots can be reached only by boat. One of them is Sarakiniko the most photographed beach on Milos. The entire landscape formed by volcanic rocks makes a nice contrast with the deep blue colour of the sea. Also, beautiful Papafragas beach which has exotic water and it is surrounded by huge rocks. Milos Greece welcomes everyone, but it is particularly popular with couples, which find in the serene natural landscape of Milos the perfect setting for their romantic holidays. Indeed, the numerous caves, mysterious catacombs, and emerald Milos beaches squeeze enough charm to bewitch any traveler.

After the sunset we will dock to the port to enjoy the night.

Day 3

As Milos is a very big island probably you will need more time to see the most famous spots. After having your breakfast the tour will continue to this magnificent island.

Paros

The stunningly beautiful island of Paros with its white-sandy beaches and warm waters can be reached from Milos within three hours. Combining modern with traditional elements in the most unique way, Paros is a mix of traditional Cycladic architecture, vivid nightlife, magical Paros beaches, enchanting rural villages, and historical monuments. Whether you're after a relaxing holiday or you are more of a thrill-seeker, Paros island will give you exactly what you want! The most important sightseeing in Paros is the Byzantine Monastery of Ekatontapyliani, meaning the church with the hundred doors.

However, Paros is mostly famous for its stunning beaches and the Cycladic villages. Naoussa, Lefkes, and Parikia are the most picturesque ones in Paros, while the most popular beaches to swim include Kolymbithres which is known for its clean water and the rock formations., Golden Beach, Monastiri beach which is a really remarkable place with emerald and calm waters to enjoy, and last Santa Maria a long beach with several smaller, sandy beaches and magic coves in this bay, making it ideal for tranquillity and diving.

At the end of the day we cruise back to Mykonos where we started.
